Glenn Dooner

Financial Advisor, LPL Financial

Glenn grew up and went to school in Florida where he also began playing baseball. After college, he signed a minor league contract as a pitcher with the Montreal Expos and continued to play for nine seasons in the minor leagues with the Minnesota Twins, Atlanta Braves and the Baltimore Orioles. Since this was merely a summer job, his winters were spent back in Florida working in the food service and hotel industry.

Baseball brought Glenn to Chicago after his pro career to play on various semi-pro teams as well as a trip overseas to play in Holland. In Chicago, Glenn started a successful dessert company called The Tropical Pie Company featuring fresh, authentic Key Lime pies. He baked and sold his desserts to area restaurants and eventually sold the business after four years of steady growth.

It was now the time to get involved with the business that Glenn had been following since his Florida school days, the Financial Service Industry. Glenn determined that PaineWebber had the best training program. After being interviewed, hired, and trained his third career was started. After PaineWebber was bought out by UBS, Glenn started looking for an Independent Broker/Dealer. So nine years into being a Financial Advisor, Glenn switched to the independent channel and joined LPL Financial, the largest independent Broker/Dealer, * where he is working now in his 14th year helping his clients work towards their financial goals.

This summer Glenn will be playing baseball with the MSBL in the northern suburbs.

*As reported in Financial Planning magazine June 1996-2009, based on total revenues.
