

THE INTEGRITAS INSTITUTE FOR ETHICS PRESENTS:

Personal Values in

the Financial Industry

Wednesday, April 23, 2008, 3:30-4:45 pm
John Paul II Newman Center 700 S. Morgan

Paul Cronin, Senior Vice President Royal Bank of Scotland (Charter One Bank)

Paul Cronin is Senior Vice President in Mid-Corporate Banking for Royal Bank of Scotland based in Chicago. His primary focus is in capital raising, advisory and other banking services to the mid-corporate and large corporate customers.

He was previously Senior Vice President and Division Head in LaSalle Bank N.A. in commercial banking, an Executive Director in ABN AMRO's Leveraged Finance Group in Chicago, and controller and treasurer in EMO Oil. Mr. Cronin has a B. Comm, D.P.A. (Masters in Accounting) and Master in Business Studies (Finance) from University College Dublin, is a Fellow of the Institute of Chartered Accountants and a Certified Public Accountant (Gold Medal Illinois).

He has taught Corporate Finance and M&A to M.B.A. students at University of Notre Dame Mendoza School of Business at South Bend, IN, as well as occasionally at Loyola University School of Law. He sits on the Board of the Lumen Institute, the Newman Center at the UIC, and Ireland Network Chicago.

Please join us at the Newman Center as Mr. Cronin discusses how he brings his personal values to the workplace everyday and influences the work environment and culture with the Royal Bank of Scotland and Charter One.
